Fall 2024 Highlights

Top search terms used in EBSCO databases Fall Semester 2024

- All our EBSCO databases, including EBSCO eBooks, Academic Search Complete, and around 60 additional databases, transitioned to a new and enhanced user interface. To help you navigate these changes, we encourage you to consult this comprehensive start guide for detailed information and support.

New eBook Collection (EBSCOhost) user interface

- The migration team has completed preliminary data checking for our test load of catalog records in Alma and is now working with Ex Libris to optimize workflows before the final migration in July.
- Explore the Alma Migration Confluence page, particularly the Training Information section. While in-person training sessions will take place from April to June, reviewing training videos in advance will be beneficial.

E-Resources Spotlight

A big shout out to Suzanne Wise for her attention to detail! While weeding out print periodicals, Suzanne also reported issues with digital access and coverage dates. Her efforts help keep our e-resources accurate and accessible.

Thank you, Suzanne!
